Antibacterial hygiene protection: Antibac

Antibac for safety

NORMBAU uses silver ions to enhance the resource-saving application technology of Antibac. The master batch is incorporated into the polymer structure of the material during the manufacturing process and is thus evenly distributed throughout the product. Protecting the surface against bacteria in this way ensures increased safety by preventing the growth of harmful micro-organisms such as bacteria and mould.

Here you can get all the technical data and product descriptions of the whole Nylon series range incl. accessories.
