

SUE CORRICK

EXPERT PROFILE

LOCATION

Birmingham, United Kingdom

JOB TITLE

Product Marketing Manager

AREA OF EXPERTISE

Passive Fire Safety and Door Hardware

EXPERIENCE

Sue joined Allegion UK in 1997 and continues to build upon her 25 years of experience, having developed an astute understanding of ironmongery and fire safety. In her role as product marketing manager, Sue works closely with architectural ironmongery and customers, monitoring and analysing the needs of the market to ensure Allegion products meet relevant standards and are safe and secure for everyone that uses them.

WHAT'S YOUR STORY?

Beginning her career at Newman Tonks Projects in 1997, Sue was quick to embrace a passion for ironmongery, legislation and the products designed to help to save lives. With an extensive career in this field, Sue has held positions in international sales for EMEA and project solutions, before growing her role in product management for the past 7 years.

Today, Sue draws upon her vast industry knowledge to support the business and its customers with the latest door hardware solutions and legislation.

PERSONAL INTERESTS

Sue loves all things sports and plays ladies football in the Birmingham league, division one. Sue also enjoys reading and socialising and volunteers as a school governor. Above all else, Sue treasures spending time with her family and going on adventures with them.
